Restored to His Relatives

Mountain Mystery Has Been Cleared

THRILLING FIGHT AT NIGHT WITH THE BANDITS.

NO RANSOM PAID TO THE MEN.

Captivity Broke Down His Nervous System—Wentz Said to be in Cincinnati.

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 10.—The un-confirmed rumor prevails here that E. L. Wentz, the millionaire missing since October 14, from Big Stone Gap, Va., has been rescued from his abductors after a fight and is in a hospital in Cincinnati. A telephone message to-day from Bristol, Tenn., denies knowl- edge of the report. Big Stone Gap has not been reached on account of a storm prevailing.

Bristol, Tenn., Dec. 10.—The deep mystery that has surrounded the dis- appearance of Edward L. Wentz in the mountains of the Wentz estate, in southeast Virginia, on October, is now lifted.

The story that became circulated a few days ago to the effect that young Mr. Wentz had been found in the mountains in a demented condition by a laborer, and delivered to the Wentz agents, was only a small leak through a winding channel from the great ocean of facts that has been sent up for a fortnight, or even longer, some having been held from near the first of the search.

The Wentz family and their attor- neys have refused to commit them- selves to a statement of the facts, but when they are all known it will be dis- covered that Edward L. Wentz has been a free man for a fortnight, and that no ransom was paid for his re- turn. Through the long period of an- xiety on the part of the family through the greatest search which was con- ducted in the mountains for the lost mil- lionaire, and of which we have any re- cord, the much-sought-for boy was being held in the Black mountains in the immediate vicinity by a band of treach- erous brigands.

E. L. WENTZ.

The first clue that was had as to his location was the story carried to Big Stone Gap by Whitaker, the mountaineer, who carried the first news to the Wentz family, that the detective who had gone to the home of John Wright in Kentucky for assistance in the search was being detained by armed men and could not effect his return.

When these facts became known the Wentzes set their stamp of disapproval upon them and denied the fact that any such had happened, but the detec- tives and leaders of the search enter- ed their efforts in that direction and ultimately effected the release of the victim of the brigands.

About 15 days ago the detectives, led by J. F. Bullitt, chief attorney for the Wentzes, gathered about Fink, Finney and Richlands, Va., where there is a mountainous corner of country, where the three states, Virginia, West Vir- ginia and Kentucky, join. This place is near the terminus of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and at the northern extreme of the Black moun- tains.

They had received evidence to show that young Wentz was held in the mountains near by.

At night the detectives, under the control of J. F. Bullitt, tried to effect his release, but failed. On the follow- ing night another attempt was made, which failed; but it was learned that the condition of young Wentz was seri- ous, and it was resolved that on the following night a desperate effort would be made to effect his rescue. The detectives were all summoned to that place, and J. F. Bullitt still did the greater part of the planning and led in the execution of the heroic deed that was to restore the young man to his parents and brothers. D. B. Wentz was also there when the rescue was ef- fected. At nightfall the company swooped suddenly up the mountain gorge, overruling the barriers which naturally fortified that section, took the hiding brigands by surprise and carried young Wentz back to the open country. He was then taken to a hospital through West Virginia it is thought, probably in Cincinnati, and there is re- ceiving treatment. It is thought that he had broken down under the great strain on his nerves and was ill before he was rescued. D. B. Wentz is in Cin- cinnati. After the rescue was effected the detectives and Wentz agents had a council at Roanoke, Va. and another at Bristol, at which D. B. Wentz and J. F. Bullitt were present and since that time there has been no reward for the return of Wentz.

It has been learned that the letter which came from young Wentz stating that he was alive and asking that the family pay the $100,000 asked by the kidnapers for his release was not borne back by the man on his return when the ransom was asked, but was sent through the mail and was registered. When the letter arrived the envelope was removed by Dr. and Mrs. John S. Wentz, the father and mother. At the postoffice it is stated that Mrs. Wentz swooned and was carried into a doc- tor's office. The next day they left for their home in Philadelphia, where they have remained since.

It has been the intention of the fam- ily to give the facts to the public when young Wentz sufficiently recovers to be out of danger. It is thought that the return has been effected without the payment of the enormous reward which was asked by the brigands for his release, thus breaking all previous records of kidnaping and distancing the sensational kidnaping of Miss Stone, the missionary, in the wilds of Bulgaria.

While here in a section of country that affords advantages for brigands, the effect of the new Russian naval movement on the Japanese government and Diet is awaited here with interest. The news from St. Petersburg that Russia had cabled to Tokyo her accept- ance of the Japanese demands in re- gard to Korea, with some modifications, will, if true, simplify matters consid- erably and bring about a peaceable solu- tion of the troubles in sight, provided the modifications are satisfactory to Japan. This point can be settled only when the modifications have been pre- sented to the Japanese government and passed upon. It is stated on high au- thority that Japan will not be satisfied with anything which gives Russia a semblance of a hold on Korea.

News comes from Port Arthur, by way of Peking, that in view of the deli- cacy of the situation Admiral Alexieff has decided to postpone his proposed trip to St. Petersburg. It has repeatedly been reported that the Russians have been fortifying Yonampoh, on the Yalu river, but the reports to this effect appear to have been greatly exaggerated. Japan and Great Britain, on October 17, according to a dispatch from Peking, asked for the opening of Yonampoh to the com- merce of the world, and the Korean foreign minister consented, subject to the approval of the emperor of Korea, which was withheld, owing, it is said, to a strenuous protest made by the Russian minister to Corea, M. Pavloff, although this subsequently was denied. Corea was then said to have strongly objected to Russia's interference as be- ing a violation of Corea's sovereign rights. Later it was asserted that Ja- pan insisted on recognition of her in- fluence in Corea and the opening of Yonampoh and other ports to foreign trade.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg, No- vember 27, said Russia was willing to concede something, but she opposed the opening of Yonampoh on account of its proximity to the mouth of the Yalu river, taking the ground that it would threaten her interests and com- plicate her difficulties in Manchuria. Some days later it was announced that Admiral Alexieff, the Russian vice- roy in the far East, had sent a number of warships to Chemulpo.

A dispatch from Seoul, Korea, De- cember 5, announced that Minister Allen that day had a long interview with the emperor of Corea on the subject of the request of the United States for the opening of Wijn, on the Yalu river, to the commerce of the world. The Cor- ean government, it was added, had been placed in a dilemma by the demand of the United States. It was pointed out at the time the December 5 dispatch was received from Seoul that Wijn was selected by the United States as a prospective port instead of Yonampoh, be- cause, lying 40 miles above the latter port, the country within that limit would likewise be open to traffic and neutralized, a substantial gain in the extent of market afforded.

London, Dec. 10.—The situation in the far East is again becoming threat- ening. The news that Russia has sent a powerful war fleet to Chemulpo, which is the seaport of the Korean capital, has created a distinctly unfa- vorable impression here, and serves to strengthen the opinion that Russia in- tends to prevent any Korean ports on the Yalu river from being opened to the commerce of the world, even if she has no present intention of taking the part of Corea bordering on the Yalu for herself.

There has been a report to the effect that the United States and Japan have reached an agreement on the question of open ports on the Yalu, but it can be traced to no official authority. The action of the United States in asking that Wijn be opened to the commerce of the world is, however, looked upon as in some degree confirmatory of the report.

Owing to the State of Affairs at Pres- ent—A Big Fleet Now Lies in Chemulpo Harbor.

London, Dec. 10.—The situation in the far East is again becoming threat- ening. The news that Russia has sent a powerful war fleet to Chemulpo, which is the seaport of the Korean capital, has created a distinctly unfa- vorable impression here, and serves to strengthen the opinion that Russia in- tends to prevent any Korean ports on the Yalu river from being opened to the commerce of the world, even if she has no present intention of taking the part of Corea bordering on the Yalu for herself.

The action of the United States in asking that Wijn be opened to the commerce of the world is, however, looked upon as in some degree confirmatory of the report.

An ominous feature of the sending of Russian warships to Chemulpo is the alleged threat to land a Russian naval brigade and march on Seoul, the Cor- ean capital, if the Korean government should act against the expressed wishes of Russia. The landing of troops by Russia for the purpose of taking pos- session of Seoul would unquestionably be regarded by Japan as an overt act of war, and she would take prompt steps to protect her interests on the disputed peninsula.

While she would have the moral sup- port of England and the United States it is regarded here as probable that she would have to fight the matter off by herself.

The effect of the new Russian naval movement on the Japanese government and Diet is awaited here with interest. The news from St. Petersburg that Russia had cabled to Tokyo her accept- ance of the Japanese demands in re- gard to Korea, with some modifications, will, if true, simplify matters consid- erably and bring about a peaceable solu- tion of the troubles in sight, provided the modifications are satisfactory to Japan. ### From Ambush in Colorado Deputies and Clerks Were Fired on by the Strikers Wednesday.

Salt Lake, Utah, Dec. 10.—Governor Wells has stepped into the campaign of intimidation which armed guards employed by the coal operators are conducting in the strike centers, and if the abuses complained of by the striking miners are not stopped mar- tial law will be declared.

General Cannon, who is in charge of the state troops, has been instructed to warn the armed guards and Deputy Sheriffs that the practices complained of must cease. Governor Wells says that freedom of speech and the rights of peaceable citizens to pass along the public highways are to be protected. He says:

"The law gives the Governor super- vision over the state officials and I pre- sume it may be construed to give me authority over the County Sheriffs. I have suggested to General Cannon to act as an advisory to keep these de- puties in check. There is always the recourse of putting the district under martial law, which I will do if their actions become too bad, or if disorders make it necessary. This is an extreme measure, however, and I shall hesitate to do it."

This plain statement from the Gov- ernor was brought out by repeated stories of outrages perpetrated on the union mines. By means of arrests and orders to leave the camps the coal company has succeeded in freeing the Colton district of union men. Sco- field, Winter Quarters and Clear Creek are at present without a union official as the result of the arrest of William Lewis, Secretary of the local branch of the United Mine Workers of Amer- ica. Lewis was arrested at Scofield on the charge of vagrancy. He was tried before Justice Burtows, convicted and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail. He is secretary of the union, and draws a salary for perform- ing his duties in that office. With the expulsion of Lewis from the district the company has succeeded in freeing the three camps of all organizers. The local union is left practically without representation. The same tactics are being employed in other districts, and union miners who do not leave the camps are arrested on charges pre- ferred by the company guards and imprisoned.

Charles Demolli, personal representa- tive of John Mitchell, was not allowed to stop at Scofield. He was compelled to remain on the train and come North. Union miners are bitter and say they will demand an investigation of what they term the unparalleled situation which exists at the mines.

The Utah Fuel company posted a no- tice, signed by the general superin- tendent, giving striking employees un- til four o'clock this afternoon to apply for work. Two hundred strikers at- tended a meeting yesterday at which speeches were made by Organizers De- molli, Kelliher and Price. The speakers urged the miners to follow the ad- vice of President John Mitchell and strike until they got their rights, but cautioned them to commit no act of violence.

COLUMBIA PROMISES TO FIGHT

To the Bitter End to Retain Panama— Censorship Established at Bogota.

Colon, Dec. 10.—The cruiser Ban- croft has sailed for Darien, under or- ders to skirt the shore of the entire In- dian country in the vicinity of the mouth of the Atrato river, to deter- mine positively whether Colombia has landed troops to march on Panama.

Report after report has reached Col- on seemingly confirming the statement that a strong force of Colombian infan- try had landed near Cape Tibiron and is already marching to Panama. The Atlanta is now patrolling the coast, the Boston and Concord have sailed on a similar mission, and the whole coast on both sides of the isth- mus is being patrolled.

Intense excitement prevails here and the wildest rumors are flying thick and fast. As the Panama army num- bers only a few hundred men the na- tion depends solely on the United States to safeguard it.

The landing of the marines and the establishment of a camp at Empira places the United States marines in a better position to handle any situation which may arise. Should the rumors of a Colombian advance prove true a sufficient force could be landed from the United States warships in the vicinity of the isthmus to hold the Col- ombian forces in check until the ar- rival of reinforcements.

The United States battleship Maine left here yesterday for the United States to undergo repairs.

It is probable that the training ship Prairie, with a battalion of marines, will be ordered to Colon. The vessel is now at Guantanamo.

It is probable that the Dixie will be ordered from Guantanamo to Colon. She has 300 marines on board.

"The statement issued by the United States Secretary of State Hay in ex- planation of happenings on the isthmus of Panama, has produced a most unfavorable and disastrous impression in political and diplomatic circles here by reason of its contradictions and its lack of sincerity and logical arguments.

"The Bogota press has answered Sec- retary Hay's statement in the most convincing manner. The central gov- ernment is acting and will continue to act, with dignity and honor, but it has been decided to combat the independ- ence of the isthmus most determinedly and without cessation. Americans here continue to enjoy complete security de- spite the indignation of the people."

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Angered because the conductor and motorman on a Hal- stead street car wore no union buttons, passengers attacked them and before the luckless conductor and motorman succeeded in getting off the train they were badly beaten this morning. Fail- ing to wreak further vengeance on them as they fled, the mob returned to the abandoned train and rendered it unfit for use, tearing up the seats and battering the woodwork with bricks. The police dispersed the mob before the train was completely demolished and a wrecking train hauled the cars to the yards.

IRON MOLDERS UNION.

Boston, Dec. 10.—The first move in a campaign of the International Iron Molders' union to put a stop to the system of extortion which is it is asserted is practiced by foremen of foundries all over the country of making ignorant men pay for their positions is the filing of a bill in equity in the United States circuit court here. It will be a test case. In the bill the union proceeds against the foundry of the General Electric company at Lynn. The nine men whose names appear as instigators of the bill are Russians and members of the union. They assert that when they sought employment at the foundry they learned that it was secretly but generally understood that those who got work must pay to Foreman Mattson and Gill money to be favored with selection from among the numerous applicants.

The orators assert that as soon as they paid certain money, which was passed over to Mattson and Gill, they got employment. They also assert that there is a depression in iron foundry work and their fear that in case they are laid off Mattson and Gill will chide them to pay more money for re-employment. They ask that the defendants be restrained from continuing the practice.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation on which the disease is built, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## RADIUM

Factory in Germany Unable to Fill Its Orders Though Busy Night and Day.

Washington, Dec. 10.—A radium factory started in Germany has many hundred grain orders on its books, writes United States Consul General Guenther to the department of commerce and labor. The company received $2,000 a grain for the strange product, and although its furnaces are working night and day, it is unable to meet the demand. "It has been demonstrated," Mr. Guenther's report continues, "that a small glass tube, not larger than a goose quill, containing a little more than a thousandth part of a grain, is as effective as an expensive and complicated electric apparatus for the treatment of cancer-surpassing the best effects of the Roentgen rays.

"The ease with which radium can be administered locally, for instance, in the nose or throat, is an invaluable advantage.

"The fact that radium exerts a very peculiar influence upon light-emitting bodies, has given rise to the hope that it may eventually play an important role in the industry of light. A minute quantity of radium is sufficient to produce a strong light from a layer of zinc pyrites, and this light produces no heat."

AFRAID OF FURTHER INVESTIGATION.

Mr. Gorman, in the senate, gave courageous voice to an impression now obtaining somewhat generally throughout the country that perhaps the department investigators of the post-office scandals may be themselves guilty of similar offenses and are seeking to escape by inking the water, like the cuttle fish, with exposure of misdeeds of their fellows easily traced. Mr. Lodge, who represents nothing in the senate but the personal interests of his chum in the White House, sought to forestall further inquiry by congress into the post-office scandals because he gave his all-conclusive word, for it that never was an investigation already made more complete. That is begging the question, which is Mr. Lodge's familiar practice. Mr. Nelson, of Minnesota, offered the flimsy objection that further inquiry into the frauds might furnish the accused with facts to aid their defense. All of which shows that the Republicans in congress are mightily afraid of probing the post-office frauds to the bottom.

President Roosevelt in his message is detected in the act of garbling to carry a point and deceive the public. In quoting what President Monroe said in 1820, he writes: "The navy is the arm from which the government will always derive most aid in support of * * * rights." Those asterisks are found to stand for the excised word "neutral." Why was it excised? Monroe knew that his doctrine stood for neutrality, for protection of this nation against aggression. Mr. Roosevelt has reversed it into American aggression, but he ought not make Monroe stand sponsor for the un-American act.

Columbus, Dec. 10.—State Senator S. L. "The President himself," he said, "can not long remain in ignorance of the feeling of the party toward him." Patterson expects to see Senator Hanna nominated.

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Chas. Foster said that no other name but that of President Roosevelt would be considered by the Republican National convention. As to Senator Hanna, he said he could not carry Ohio as a presidential candidate.

PLOT
TO SLAY PRESIDENT M'KINLEY WAS REVEALED

To a High American Official in Cuba Months Before the Fatal Event at Buffalo.

Havana, Dec. 10.—I am in a position to make the startling allegation that a high American official, then stationed here, learned months before the opening of the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo that the assassination there of President McKinley had been planned by anarchists in a Spanish prison at Mont Juich, Barcelona, and that in the event of President Diaz, of Mexico, attending the fair an attempt on his life would also be made.

The information was brought from Europe direct to Havana by a young Italian newspaper correspondent, who served with the Cuban insurgents here. He was captured by Spanish troops and sent a prisoner to Spain prior to the outbreak of hostilities between the United States and Spain. He was confined in Mont Juich Castle, Barcelona, where he overheard the plot.

After escaping from prison the correspondent returned to Cuba, being commissioned by a Paris newspaper to report the assembly which drafted the Cuban constitution now in effect. Upon his arrival here he presented himself at the palace, seeking a private interview, and was referred to Major Casario, then at the head of the government's secret service and the local police. He told the story of the Mont Juich plot and offered, for a small consideration, to draw sketches of the anarchist plotters for the use of the Washington secret service, so that precautionary measures might be taken to safeguard the late president and other executives in peril.

Instead of receiving thanks the correspondent was summarily expelled from Cuba aboard a vessel bound for Vera Cruz, Mexico. Meanwhile Major Casario sent communications to the Mexican authorities saying that he was a dangerous character who deserved to be watched.

Shortly after reaching the City of Mexico the young Italian was arrested upon an evidently trumped-up charge of having attempted to steal some diamonds from a wealthy Mexican. He was forced to serve a long term in the penitentiary, in which he is still a prisoner.

The party vouching for the truth of this story represented a leading New York newspaper as war correspondent in Cuba when the Italian journalist arrived here in 1895. He went through the Spanish lines to join Garcia's patriot forces in the field beyond the trocha of Jucare-Meron, and was afterward captured and court-martialed. While a prisoner in Cabana Castle, Havana, awaiting transportation to Mont Juich prison, the Italian managed to steal the plans of all the Spanish fortifications of this capital from Colonel Gage, the engineer in charge, and to smuggle them out to the New York Journal correspondent. The latter presented them to the bureau of military information of the war department at Washington.

President McKinley ordered the then Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt and Assistant Secretary of War Micklejohn, together with Major Wagner and Captain Whitney, to examine the documents carefully and note their importance and cause them to be archived for reference in the event of hostilities with Spain.

This occurred six months before the war, but keen interest was shown in the data at Washington.

The name of the young Italian is Mario Victor Divizia. He was a captain in the Italian army which was defeated in Abyssinia. According to his own statement he was stricken from the army lists at home for having joined the Cuban revolution while enjoying a year's leave to travel without the consent of the war office at Rome.

While he was a prisoner of the Spaniards in Cabana Castle here, after his capture during a raid upon a Cuban hospital, United States Senator Money tried in vain to get the Italian minister at Washington to take some action in Divizia's behalf, but it was explained that by joining the insurgents here and overstaying his leave from active Italian military duty he had placed himself to all intents and purposes in the light of a deserter, and couldn't expect help from his king, who desired no friction with the Madrid government over matters of such a trifling nature.

Sent to Pen.

Columbus, O., Dec. 10.—Robert G. Hall and M. McDonald started out to fight the charge of fraud against them, but their attorneys changed their pleas to guilty. Hall was sentenced to 13 months in the penitentiary and McDonald to 15 months. The men defrauded butter packers throughout the country. They ordered large quantities of the butter and sold it at a lower price than they agreed to pay. They failed to meet bills, and there was evidence that they never intended to settle them. They are well known in Zanesville and Sunbury.

KAISER
Gives Secret Instructions to Prepare the Yacht Hohenzollern for Mediterranean Cruise.

Berlin, Dec. 10.—In spite of official denials, the Kaiser intends to go on a cruise on board the Hohenzollern. The conservative Berliner Tageblatt states that the imperial yacht will leave Kiel on December 20 and go direct to a port on the Mediterranean, where it will await the orders of the Kaiser.

Captain Von Uedom in command of the Hohenzollern, was secretly receiving the Kaiser at Potsdam, and has now full instructions. Though he went to the palace in citizen's clothing, the news of his visit leaked out, and since his return to Kiel preparations to put the yacht in shape are going on very rapidly.

There is great indignation in medical circles here because of a report, supposedly cabled from here and printed by several New York papers, that the treatment of the Kaiser's vocal cords is being conducted after the methods invented by Dr. H. H. Curtis of New York. New York papers containing this cablegram have been received here, and Prof. Moritz Schmidt who operated on the Kaiser, is said to be indignant.

TWINS

Born in Three Families Within One Hour—President Roosevelt Has Been Notified.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 10.—Within one hour yesterday twins were born to three families living in the same row of houses in New Philadelphia, a suburb. President Roosevelt was wired the news and was requested to name the six babies. He replied congratulating the parents and saying that the names would be forthcoming as soon as he was informed of the sex of the little ones. In their excitement the proud papas neglected to give this important information.

The first pair of twins came to John Shuste's home. Shuste was strutting in front of the house when George Careton emerged from the next door and called for congratulations.

"How many cards do you hold?" asked Shuste.

"Two," shouted Careton. "It's twins."

"Then it is a draw," replied Shuste. "I am a two-time daddy myself." The men were shaking hands when Michael Costello came rushing around the corner. "The drinks are on me, boys," he said. "Twins at my house." The others would not let him buy.

The West Virginian Met the Woman Who He Alleges Stole His Money and Furniture.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 10.—F. A. Snyder aged 74, a wealthy and retired farmer from Watson, W. Va., has appealed to the local police to aid him in apprehending his missing wife, who is 30 years his junior, and who is said to have departed with $1,200 of his wealth and all his furniture.

Snyder met Miss Patterson in Jefferson, Ohio, last fall, and on October 1 they were married in that place. Several weeks ago they came here to live and ever since Snyder alleges the woman has been taking money from him by force.

Last week she is said to have wrested a roll of $1200 from him, and, ordering him from the house, packed the household effects and left.

After her departure a telegram was found dated New York city, signed J. Duncan, asking her to bring her furniture at once, as the writer had rented rooms at 225 Main street in that city.

Lima, O., Dec. 10.—After frequent marital dissensions, Louis Clum, aged 24, son of Noah Clum, a farmer, threatened to leave home and started, but, returning, announced to his wife that he had changed his mind and would kill himself instead. He then calmly invited her to witness the suicide.

Going into the milkhouse, with his wife watching, he threw a clothes line over a beam, placed a milk bucket under it, then tying the noose around his neck, kicked the underpinning and swung off. His wife, frightened, ran to a neighboring house for assistance, but on her return Clum was dead. Mrs. Clum was an Ada girl and married the Allen county girl last March.

MYSTERIOUS
Woman Chloroforms Mrs. Druley Leaving Her Unconscious on Floor. Plot to Wreck Home.

Marion, Ind., Dec. 10.—Mrs. Louise Druley, wife of Frederick Druley, a young business man, who has been annoyed since last May by an unknown and mysterious woman, who shadowed her and called at her house numerous times, is today a nervous wreck.

The unknown woman gained entrance to the Druley home, secreted herself in a hall, and when Mrs. Druley entered, threw a cloth saturated with chloroform over her head. She bore Mrs. Druley to the floor and held her there until she was unconscious. Mrs. Druley was found about two hours later by her eight-year-old daughter when she returned from school. When Mrs. Druley came home he found his daughter weeping because she was unable to awaken her mamma. Mr. Druley worked with his wife for some time before he revived her.

It now develops that four different persons are engaged in a mysterious plot to wreck the Druley home. The woman who first called last May and told Mrs. Druley many stories of alleged crimes committed by her husband and threatened violence if she did not leave the city was recently severely injured by Mrs. Druley, who cut her across the throat with a razor one day when she found her in her house. This woman has not returned. A second unknown woman was scalded. A boy 14 years of age then gained an audience with Mrs. Druley four or five different times, and when he failed a man took up the work and attempted to kidnap Mrs. Druley.

The detectives and police are working on two different theories and promise to unravel the mystery soon.

OXFORD'S HISTORIC ELM IS CUT DOWN

Hamilton, Dec. 10.—The historic elm tree in Oxford, known as "the lynchcr's elm," since Henry Corbin, the murderer of Mrs. Elizabeth Homer, was hanged there in 1833, was cut down yesterday afternoon by order of the Oxford council.

The tree got great notoriety recently when Joe Spivey, the Kentucky desperado, was hanged to its lowest limb and rescued by officers.

Many citizens, led by the village ministers, believed that the presence of the tree suggested the idea of lynching Spivey, and agitation for its removal at once began.

Henry Stitzel, who removed the tree, will make it into a bedstead.

IN CORN SHREDDER AND ARM WAS CRUSHED.

Frightful Accident in Which Vernon Alsop Was Victim—His Mother in Newark Hospital.

Thornville, O., Dec. 10.—While feeding a corn shredder yesterday afternoon on the farm of John Clem, who lives just over the line in Fairfield county, Vernon Alsop, the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Alsop, who live about a mile west of this place, had the misfortune to lose his right arm by being caught in the feeding rolls of a corn shredder. Some fodder caught in the feeding rolls and choked the shredder. Young Alsop attempted to pull the corn fodder out, when his hand was caught and his hand and arm crushed to shreds below the elbow before the machine could be stopped. Drs. William Baker, of Pleasantville; F. R. and G. W. Clemson and G. H. Pugh, of Thornville, were called and they found the arm so badly crushed that amputation was necessary, which was done at a point three inches below the shoulder.

Young Mr. Alsop had been employed by his cousin, Mr. Benj. Alsop, who is the owner of the shredder, for some time. He is resting as easily as could be expected at the present time. The young man's mother is in the hospital at Newark.

Eugene N. Hoskell, a printer in the Kennebec Journal office in Augusta, Me., writes: "I positively believe that Father John's Medicine saved my life as well as my wife's. I got completely run down, had coughing spells lost appetite and was obliged to stay away from work part of the time. I consulted different doctors, but got no help. The first dose of Father John's Medicine helped me and I began to improve and was soon entirely cured. Shortly afterwards we all thought my wife was going into consumption. After taking two bottles of Father John's Medicine, she is now a well woman. That made two sours in my family." Father John's Medicine is for sale by J. W. Collins & Son.

ASLEEP FOR TWO WEEKS

New York, Dec. 10.—Doctors here are much interested in the case of a baby girl 6 weeks old, which has been asleep for two weeks. The child takes food naturally and continues to develop, but has not opened its eyes or made a sound in a fortnight. The coma followed a high fever, which was broken.

DEAD MEN WARN LIVING

Hospital Reports Prove That Dyspepsia Is the Forerunner of Consumption.

Post mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that many cases of consumption are due to uninterrupted progress of dyspepsia.

Especially is this true in cases where the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis. Therefore the person who allows dyspeptic conditions to progress unchecked is contributing toward the development of the most fatal disease known to mankind.

Dyspepsia wears out the body and the brain—makes the victim thin, haggard and pale. The stomach, unable to digest food, cannot supply nourishment. When other diseases come, they enter unresisted.

HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for several years and it reached such a stage that I could hold nothing on my stomach, and immediately after eating even the lightest foods would be taken with a violent fit of vomiting. I tried a great many remedies, but nothing helped me until I procured a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, when I obtained instant relief. I am now able to eat heavy foods and I gladly recommend the Rexall Tablets to anyone suffering as I did." L. P. TUCKER, 210 Howard St., Detroit, Mich.

Don't take any chances. Cure your dyspepsia once. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will do it. We know what they are and we guarantee them to restore health, strength and a good digestion. Price 25 cents. Only at our store or by mail.

Exploded and Murray DeFrance Was Burned About the Hands at Home in West Newark.

Another accident from natural gas which might have been attended with serious results, occurred in the West End, on Wednesday night. Mr. Murray DeFrance, the well known steam fitter at the Jewett Car works, had crawled under his residence on Hancock street, to connect a gas pipe with a pipe leading to a stove. He had a lantern for a light and carelessly removed the plug from the gas pipe, the escaping gas igniting and making a loud report. The flames were blown over Mr. DeFrance's head and face burning him painfully but not seriously.

Mrs. DeFrance, who was in the house, immediately phoned for the fire department, which came at once and extinguished the flames. There was only slight damage to the house but Mr. DeFrance will be laid up for some days.

Delaware, O., Dec. 10.—The 37th annual meeting of the state horticultural society is now in session here. The opening program consisted of the reports of the district members of the ad interim committee, showing conditions throughout the state, and the report of Professor W. R. Professor Lazenby reviewed the papers read at the Boston meeting while Mr. Woodard spoke on the exhibits.

Doctors Know the Danger of Alcohol in Kidney Remedies.
Remember this—Kidney-Wort Tablets CANNOT contain alcohol.

MISS SUSIE LANG, attacked by Kidney Disease, was ready to give up hope.

Miss Susie Lang of Philadelphia, Pa., wrote September 26, 1903: "Two years ago I was attacked with kidney trouble. It was impossible for me to sleep at night from pains in my back. Several preparations proved of no avail. Two specialists on kidney troubles were unable to improve my condition. I was in despair when Dr. Pettigill's Kidney-Wort Tablets were recommended to me. In less than a month the pains disappeared and my former health began to return. I was recently examined by an eminent physician, who told me my kidneys were in a healthy condition."

Medical men whose opinions entitle them to respectful consideration, deplore the use of liquid kidney remedies because of the deadly alcohol in them. The reaction from alcohol when administered to diseased kidneys is inevitable, harmful and usually fatal.

If you are in doubt, if your back aches, if you have piercing or burning pains, if your urine is foul, take the safe course and write your symptoms to Consultation Department, 133 College St., Burlington, Vt., who will advise you free, whether you are in danger or not.

OBITUARY.

ALOYSIUS BADER.

Death has again claimed one of Newark's oldest and most highly honored citizens, Mr. Aloysius Bader having passed away at 7:25 o'clock Thursday morning at his home, 208 Locust street, his death having been caused by paralysis of the brain, complicated with heart disease. His illness has been of about three years' duration, but only for the past two weeks has he been bedfast.

The deceased was born in Baden-Baden, Germany, June 7, 1820, and when a young man came to America, at once establishing his home in Newark, where others of his family had already settled. In 1860, January 22, he was married in this city to Miss Anna Lyness, and of this union there are nine children living, six sons and three daughters. The children are: Frank J., Michael, George, Lewis, John, of this city; Albert, of Dayton; Mrs. Joseph Spence, of North street; Mrs. Bernard McDonough and Miss Regina Bader, at home. His wife also survives. Soon after coming to Newark Mr. Bader embarked in the coal business, and by his sterling honesty and strict attention to business built up a large and prosperous trade, to which he catered until six years ago, when he sold out and retired to enjoy the comforts of a prosperous old age, made possible by a competence honestly earned. There were several of this family of Baders who came to Newark many years ago and became highly honored citizens, only one being left, a sister of the deceased, Mrs. Theresa Beckley, of West Newark. Two brothers, Demetrius Bader and Joseph Bader, and one sister, have been dead for a number of years.

The funeral will take place from the St. Francis de Sales church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, Father B. M. O'Doylan conducting the services. The interment will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

MRS. THOMAS IS DEAD.

Lancaster, O., Dec. 10.—Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, widow of Rev. B. S. Thomas, died at her home yesterday afternoon. Her only child, Mrs. Hetty Thomas, left two months ago to work as a missionary in Japan. The funeral will be held Friday.

HUGH MCCONNELL.

Hugh McConnell, aged 49, a well known stone mason, died at his home on Wing street about about 8 o'clock Thursday morning after a long illness of consumption. The deceased leaves two daughters, his wife having been dead several years. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon, from the home of a brother-in-law of the deceased, Mr. George Snooks, 345 East Main street.

HARRY I. ABBOTT.

Columbus, O., Dec. 10.—Harry Abbott, 33, formerly of Newark, is dead. From every section of the city, came universal expressions of sorrow, Wednesday when it was learned that Harry I. Abbott had died at his residence on Highland street after a short illness with consumption.

For Harry Abbott was an extremely popular young business man of the capital city, where his sterling qualities and cheerful disposition had surrounded him with a large number of warm friends who joined with the bereaved families of the deceased and his parents in condoling his demise.

Harry Abbott was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Abbott. He was born at Newark, Ohio, November 30, 1865, but removed to Columbus with his parents a number of years ago.

He began his business career in this city as an employee of the Old First National bank under the directing hand of Theodore P. Gordon. After remaining as an employee of the bank for several years he resigned to take a course of study at the Ohio State university.

About 16 years ago Mr. Abbott entered the employ of Samuel Stevens while that gentleman was in the wholesale grocery business, and January 1, 1903, when Mr. Stevens expressed a desire to retire from the business, it was Mr. Abbott who organized the Samuel Stevens' Wholesale Grocery company, of which he was secretary and treasurer up to the time of his death.

The time of Mr. Abbott's death was 8 o'clock Tuesday evening and in addition to a grief stricken wife and two children, aged 1 and 4 years, he leaves a father, mother, two sisters and six brothers to mourn at his bier.

One of his brothers, Royal Abbott, is a professor at Ann Arbor; another, W. B. Abbott, is with Nichols Brothers, wholesale confectioners, of this city; two other brothers are at present employed at the New First National bank. Mr. Abbott had obtained some prominence in politics and made many friends in that field.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Abbott residence in Highland street at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Interment will be at Union cemetery.

It will take five years to rebuild the Campanile di Venice. The new tower will probably have an elevator.

THE W. C. T. U.

The last regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the First M. E. church. The devotional half hour, which began promptly at two o'clock, was led by Mrs. Johnson. The seventh chapter of Matthew was read and commented on, emphasis being placed on the first verse, "Judge not that ye be not judged." Rejoice in reading, subject, "Enfranchisement of Woman." This was followed by an interesting talk on "Rest Room," by the matron, Mrs. Brown. This branch of the W. C. T. U. is doing excellent work and is well patronized by the public.

Next Tuesday afternoon will be "Mothers' Meeting," and will be in charge of Mrs. Patt, the superintendent. All mothers should attend these meetings especially those who have the care of children. They would certainly hear something that would help them in training the child. The Master said, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from you." How important it is we know all mothers are to know in bringing up children; how necessary it is that temperance be taught. Early in life the writer has in mind a young man, whose blooming face and red nose told the secret of his bringing up. His mother often said, "A taste of beer will do him good; give him all he wants now and when he grows up he will not want it." This mother has found out that she made a sad mistake, and no doubt is repenting at leisure, for "as the twig is bent the tree is inclined" and if we want to be on the safe side let us taste not, touch not, handle not.

GRIDIRON CLUB DINNER

Odd Features at Feast of Washington Correspondents.

RED LIGHT HUNG OVER MCLELLAN

Song Also Addressed to New York's Mayor Elect—Take-off on Cannon. Hanna Remembered in a Parody. A Presidential Flying Machine Wrecked—Burlesque on Panama.

The first dinner of the season of the Gridiron club, composed of Washington correspondents, was given the other night at Washington, says the New York World.

Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the new British ambassador, made his debut. Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the new Chinese minister, sat near to him. Mayor Elect McClellan of New York and Charles F. Murphy were side by side. Speaker Cannon was a prominent figure. Nearly a score of members of the house were present. Senator Hanna and Senator Gorman chatted together. Many other distinguished men were also there.

The presence of Mayor Elect McClellan afforded one opportunity for fun. The guests had been seated at the table only a few minutes when one of the club members, disguised as a New York policeman, appeared and stood near Mr. McClellan, holding a big red lantern. Having thus located the "red light district" in Mr. McClellan's vicinity, the lantern was suspended over the mayor elect's head and there remained.

A long address to Mr. McClellan was another feature. It was sung to the familiar tune of "Tessie" and began: George goes from congress to a brand new place.

George is a mayor of New York; George was the winner in a hot old race, George has a barrel full of pork.

"High Up in the Coconut Tree" appeared under the title "High Up in the Speaker's Chair." The first verse ran:

A congressman from a western state had served for many a year; He sat on the floor so near the door He could neither see nor hear. So he said, "No more of this for me, I'll run for speaker, don't you see." But now tonight, when he's "up" all right, He sings with all his might:

chorus.
Though I'm up in the speaker's chair, I'm lonely;

I like the boys so well, I love them only; They always were so good to me, They helped me on to victory. I wish they all could rule with me, High up in the speaker's chair.

There was a song for Senator Gorman entitled "When the Sun is Shining Down in Maryland," while Senator Hanna was remembered in a parody on a well known song from "The Sultan of Sulu" as follows:

M. A. H. A. N. N. A.
Uncle Marcus is the man, they say, To get hands down in 'nineteen four, And keep the party in once more. It may be so, we do not know; But this remember as you go— It is no time for mirth and laughter The cold gray dawn of the morning after.

A skit that caused great amusement and made Senator Hanna himself shake with laughter occurred in a miniature newspaper office made up for the occasion. A reporter rushed in with this announcement:

"Senator Hanna has declared that he will not be a candidate for the presidency!"

"Telephone the White House at once!"

"The president," remarked the club member at the telephone. "wishes to know if an affidavit goes with the announcement."

There was a burlesque on Panama, all the participants being in costume. While the orchestra played the "Rogues' March" a dry goods box mounted on a two wheeled truck was brought in by a hotel porter. The box had a big interrogation point on each side. To the rear end was attached a gong. The gong was rung, and "Panama" emerged from the box.

"I am the republic of Panama," he announced.

"Great graft!" exclaimed "the Democratic party" in the guise of a donkey, "but this is sudden."

"I am the suddenest thing that ever happened," asserted Panama.

There was a lively dialogue between the army and the navy, with representatives of the treasury and postoffice departments occasionally chipping in. Panama seemed in great distress lest the canal money should get into the custody of the postoffice department. Finally, under the persuasive influence of a stuffed club, Panama was induced to produce a large roll labeled "Twenty."

"Get back in your box, Panama," was the next command. "That is all we want of you."

And then to the trumpeting of the G. O. P. elephant, the braying of the Democratic donkey, the burrubs of the Colombian army and the chorus of "Yankee Doodle" the participants withdrew.

With Professor Langley's airship still fresh in mind there was humor in the attempt of a gridiron committee on aeronautics to launch a flying machine that would carry presidential candidates to the White House. The machine was a box with real wings and a paper sail, the latter being hoisted each time a new passenger was taken aboard.

Many prominent men were offered an ascent. At last Charles A. Towne, formerly of Minnesota, but now of New York, and Representative J. Adam Bede of Minnesota were taken aboard. There was some question whether the machine could carry them, but experts declared that two lightweights would not be in danger. The result, however, was that they wrecked the machine and were left sitting among the debris to console with each other on the collapse of their brilliant expectations.

Curse OF DRINK

DRUNKENNESS CURED TO STAY CURED BY

White Ribbon Remedy

I announce to the world that I have an absolute cure for drunkenness. Any woman can cure her husband, son or brother, or any one of liquor drinking, by secretly placing White Ribbon Remedy in his coffee, tea or food, without his knowledge. This has been done in thousands of cases and the cures have been permanent. White Ribbon Remedy is entirely odorless and tasteless. Any good and faithful woman can wipe out this fearful drink evil, and permanently stop the craving for liquor. By degrees the patient gets a distaste for intoxicants, and finally leaves off altogether.

"Recommended by Members of a Woman's Christian Temperance Union. White Ribbon Remedy cures and destroys the diseased appetite for all alcoholic drinks, whether the patient is a confirmed inebriate, a 'tippler,' social drinker or drunkard. Impossible for anyone to have an appetite for alcoholic liquors after using White Ribbon Remedy."

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prostration, chronic constipation, sick head, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1933.

Hammings Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After taking about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. She has continued taking it and to my surprise she has been able to sleep and to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and after a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a nervous night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

Shows come and shows go, but there is one that will always live, because the changes from year to year brighten it up and insure long life. Specialties in abundance have been provided. A laughing night is assured on Saturday evening at the Auditorium when Peck's Bad Boy comes to the city.

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT.

Creators, with his now famous Italian Band, who comes to the Auditorium Monday night, December 14, played for two seasons at the Pittsburgh Exposition, and there created fully as much of a sensation among the newspaper writers and artists as he did in New York City. The adjectives that some of the writers used in describing the concerts are emphatic, to say the least. The Dispatch termed Creator a "Mystery" and the "Wonder of the Day," who "Svengaled" his audiences; who was "theatrical, hypocritical, passionate and temperamental." The writer confessed that he "felt as though a string had snapped inside his heart, and Creator was playing on the loose end of it." Creator was declared "A musical wonder who achieved a distinct triumph." Speaking of Creator's gestures the Dispatch thought "He seemed to be playing all the instruments himself," and declared that "A more unequalled success in the music world cannot be conceived."

Jenetta's Fortune

[Original.]

In a shabbily furnished parlor sat Jenetta Macomber, aged nineteen, and her lover, Leon Wynne, ten years her senior.

"When you went to the lawyer who advertised for you, what did he say?"

"He asked me if I was Jenetta Macomber. I told him yes. Did my father go away when I was a baby? Yes. My mother's name? Caroline Swann. Then he told me that a fortune awaited me in California."

Leon shook his head. "There's some game in the wind," he said. "Well, good night. I'll see you before you go."

The next day Leon Wynne called upon Martin Cahoon, the lawyer who had advertised for Jenetta. He found a shrewd looking man, indeed one whom Leon saw at a glance would have no mercy in money matters.

"I have noticed," said the young man, "that you have advertised for Jenetta Macomber, sole heir to the estate of Andrew Macomber."

"I have," said the lawyer, bringing a pair of piercing eyes to bear on Leon.

"I am Andrew Macomber's only child. This Jenetta Macomber comes from another branch of the family. She is my cousin."

"Can you substantiate that?"

"I can."

Cahoon looked incredulous.

"See here," said Leon. "There's no use in you and me trying to fool each other. This girl is under my influence, and I can do what I like with her. You evidently know something about this fortune, if it exists, and I need your services. I have no money to prosecute the claim, either for expenses or court or lawyer's fees. What do you say to taking my case on shares? I'll give you half."

There was a look of cunning in the lawyer's eyes as he replied:

"If you are the sole heir and can establish the fact, of course I shall be happy to serve you."

"Very well. I will show you that I can do what I say. I'll see you to-morrow."

Leon went directly to Jenetta and told her the whole story. Then he drew up a paper confirming his claim to the property; and she signed it. The next day Leon took the paper to the lawyer. Cahoon looked at it, astonished. Then a crafty smile passed over his face.

"Well," said the client, "are you satisfied that you can trust me?"

"It's risky," replied the lawyer.

"Not half the risk of trying to work it through the girl, especially as I'm on to your game."

There was a good deal of sparring, at the end of which Leon left the office commissioned to go to Rio de Janeiro to end the matter.

It was plain that Cahoon had intended to send Jenetta to California to get her out of the way while he was working a scheme to secure possession of her inheritance in her name. This bit of luck in her relinquishment of her claim in favor of Leon Wynne put a new face on the matter and rendered the job far easier. Leon signed a paper agreeing, in lieu of advanced expenses, counsel fees, etc., to give Cahoon one-half the estate when obtained. When he left the office it was with a check for $500 with which to pay his way and living for a time at Rio. He went immediately to Jenetta.

"We must be married at once," he said, "and secretly."

"Why so?" she asked, astonished.

"Your father, so Cahoon says, has really died in Rio possessed of a fortune, and you are the only heir."

"In Rio?"

"Yes. Using the paper I asked you to sign, I have succeeded in unearthing the truth. I have agreed to give Cahoon one-half of the fortune if I get it. But you see, sweetheart, I don't want it. It would be better for us to get it in your name and without this tremendous inheritance tax Cahoon has levied on me."

"But why are we to be married in such a hurry?"

"I have agreed to go at once and collect your fortune. I prefer to have your company, especially as you are the legal heir. As to the secrecy, notwithstanding that I hold the winning cards I don't dare let Cahoon know that I have duped him. There's no knowing how he might trick us yet."

"When does the steamer leave?"

"In an hour. I may be watched by Cahoon or his spies to see if I sail on her, and I must not disappoint them, nor must it be known that you go with me. Once out on the ocean it will make no difference, but you must go to the ship without me, and it would be safer to go disguised. On second thought it may be dangerous for us to attempt a marriage. We'd better be married aboard the ship."

"But suppose there is no clergyman?"

"In that case we'll have to wait till we reach Rio."

Just before the steamer sailed Leon Wynne went aboard. He had been preceded by an old woman whom he kept in sight till the ship moved off. Among the faces on the dock Leon recognized Cahoon. Taking a pair of green spectacles and a wig from the old woman beside him, Leon revealed a young girl's face.

"Mr. Cahoon," he called, "let me introduce Miss Macomber."

The next moment Cahoon had disappeared in the crowd.

Fortunately the runaways found a clergyman on board to tie the knot, and on reaching Rio they found the story of the fortune to be correct and in due time secured it. When they returned Cahoon had renounced his law offices to some place unknown.

This year, more radical changes than ever have been made; in fact, none of the old material is used, an entirely new play has been written and everything on the title, which is a trade mark, is brand new. Specialties in abundance have been provided. A laughing night is assured on Saturday evening at the Auditorium when Peck's Bad Boy comes to the city.

Jenetta's Fortune

[Original.]

In a shabbily furnished parlor sat Jenetta Macomber, aged nineteen, and her lover, Leon Wynne, ten years her senior.

"When you went to the lawyer who advertised for you, what did he say?"

"He asked me if I was Jenetta Macomber. I told him yes. Did my father go away when I was a baby? Yes. My mother's name? Caroline Swann. Then he told me that a fortune awaited me in California."

Leon shook his head. "There's some game in the wind," he said. "Well, good night. I'll see you before you go."

The next day Leon Wynne called upon Martin Cahoon, the lawyer who had advertised for Jenetta. He found a shrewd looking man, indeed one whom Leon saw at a glance would have no mercy in money matters.

"I have noticed," said the young man, "that you have advertised for Jenetta Macomber, sole heir to the estate of Andrew Macomber."

"I have," said the lawyer, bringing a pair of piercing eyes to bear on Leon.

"I am Andrew Macomber's only child. This Jenetta Macomber comes from another branch of the family. She is my cousin."

"Can you substantiate that?"

"I can."

Cahoon looked incredulous.

"See here," said Leon. "There's no use in you and me trying to fool each other. This girl is under my influence, and I can do what I like with her. You evidently know something about this fortune, if it exists, and I need your services. I have no money to prosecute the claim, either for expenses or court or lawyer's fees. What do you say to taking my case on shares? I'll give you half."

There was a look of cunning in the lawyer's eyes as he replied:

"If you are the sole heir and can establish the fact, of course I shall be happy to serve you."

"Very well. I will show you that I can do what I say. I'll see you to-morrow."

Leon went directly to Jenetta and told her the whole story. Then he drew up a paper confirming his claim to the property; and she signed it. The next day Leon took the paper to the lawyer. Cahoon looked at it, astonished. Then a crafty smile passed over his face.

"Well," said the client, "are you satisfied that you can trust me?"

"It's risky," replied the lawyer.

"Not half the risk of trying to work it through the girl, especially as I'm on to your game."

There was a good deal of sparring, at the end of which Leon left the office commissioned to go to Rio de Janeiro to end the matter.

It was plain that Cahoon had intended to send Jenetta to California to get her out of the way while he was working a scheme to secure possession of her inheritance in her name. This bit of luck in her relinquishment of her claim in favor of Leon Wynne put a new face on the matter and rendered the job far easier. Leon signed a paper agreeing, in lieu of advanced expenses, counsel fees, etc., to give Cahoon one-half the estate when obtained. When he left the office it was with a check for $500 with which to pay his way and living for a time at Rio. He went immediately to Jenetta.

"We must be married at once," he said, "and secretly."

"Why so?" she asked, astonished.

"Your father, so Cahoon says, has really died in Rio possessed of a fortune, and you are the only heir."

"In Rio?"

"Yes. Using the paper I asked you to sign, I have succeeded in unearthing the truth. I have agreed to give Cahoon one-half of the fortune if I get it. But you see, sweetheart, I don't want it. It would be better for us to get it in your name and without this tremendous inheritance tax Cahoon has levied on me."

"But why are we to be married in such a hurry?"

"I have agreed to go at once and collect your fortune. I prefer to have your company, especially as you are the legal heir. As to the secrecy, notwithstanding that I hold the winning cards I don't dare let Cahoon know that I have duped him. There's no knowing how he might trick us yet."

"When does the steamer leave?"

"In an hour. I may be watched by Cahoon or his spies to see if I sail on her, and I must not disappoint them, nor must it be known that you go with me. Once out on the ocean it will make no difference, but you must go to the ship without me, and it would be safer to go disguised. On second thought it may be dangerous for us to attempt a marriage. We'd better be married aboard the ship."

"But suppose there is no clergyman?"

"In that case we'll have to wait till we reach Rio."

Just before the steamer sailed Leon Wynne went aboard. He had been preceded by an old woman whom he kept in sight till the ship moved off. Among the faces on the dock Leon recognized Cahoon. Taking a pair of green spectacles and a wig from the old woman beside him, Leon revealed a young girl's face.

"Mr. Cahoon," he called, "let me introduce Miss Macomber."

The next moment Cahoon had disappeared in the crowd.

Fortunately the runaways found a clergyman on board to tie the knot, and on reaching Rio they found the story of the fortune to be correct and in due time secured it. When they returned Cahoon had renounced his law offices to some place unknown.

PLYMOUTH

CHURCH IS IN A FLOURISHING CONDITION.

The annual meeting of the Plymouth Congregational church was held Wednesday evening in the main auditorium. A large and interested congregation was present. The work of the past year was reviewed. The church treasurer reported all bills paid and when all money subscribed is received a balance will be on hand, though over seven hundred dollars more have been raised for current expenses this year than last.

Perhaps the two movements of unusual growth are found in the missionary society, which more than doubled its membership, and the "go to church" band.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Deacons, J. M. Keckley and David Gamble; clerk, Mrs. Augusta Thurston; treasurer, Mr. J. E. Snelling; ushers, John Ankele, Joseph Spittle, M. Hugh Ellis, Charles Cripps; music committee, Mr. J. M. Keckley, John Mazey and Edward Fox; honorary members of the trustee board David Jones, Wm. Vantassie, P. S. Phillips, Willis Boggs, I. N. ## DOG'S WIT

Prevented a Terrible Accident and the Probable Death of His Master

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Dec. 10—The almost human intelligence of a shepherd dog saved two persons from serious if not fatal injuries or instant death.

Harry Hayes, a Homestead, Ind. merchant, and Enoch Guard, a young farmer, drove into town yesterday. As they approached the B. & O. S. W. railway a passenger train approached unnoticed by the occupants of the wagon. Hayes' dog "Shep" was running several yards ahead of the wagon and espied the approaching train.

Seeming instantly to comprehend the danger the dog turned back, barking furiously, and, springing into the face of the horse, stopped it within a few feet of the train. When the danger was past the dog leaped about the wagon barking joyously.

BATHING

NOT A GOOD THING SAYS THIS PROFESSOR

Admits He Hasn't Taken Bath for Two Years and No Acquaintance Will Likely Dispute It

Chicago, Dec. 10—"When people leave off bathing there will be little or nothing for the doctors to do. Pneumonia, colds and a hundred other ills result from the foolish habit of washing the body. To bathe is to be dirty, for you thereby make a sewer of the skin. Blood attracted by the skin gives up products that should be left to seek a natural outlet and soils the skin."

The foregoing declarations made by Prof. John Dill Robertson, last night at the annual meeting of the Chicago Eclectic and Surgical Society aroused the interest of the members.

"Do you practice what you preach?" inquired one of the hearers.

"I have not taken a bath for two years," replied the doctor. "I keep clean by changing all my clothing once a day."

Prof. Robertson not only advised that bathing he stopped, but he asserted that the theory that the closing of the pores of the skin would result in death is false. He said:

"Where does the city get its brain and brawn? From the country, where the farmer boy doesn't take a bath during the entire winter, and would not in summer were it not that he enjoys swimming. A nation becomes weak and retrogrades in consequence of bathing. Where are the glories of ancient Greece and Rome, whose public baths were the wonders of the world?"

FR. HARTLEY

WILL PROBABLY BE BISHOP OF COLUMBUS.

Cablegram from Rome to Advocate Read to Fr. O'Boylan Who Expresses an Opinion.

The following Scripps-McRae Press Association cablegram to the Advocate Thursday was read to V. Rev. B. M. O'Boylan, rector of St. Francis de Sales church:

Rome, Dec. 10—After much divergence of opinion the congregation of propaganda today chose Rt. Rev. Jas. Hartley of Steubenville, O., for bishop of Columbus. It is doubtful, however, if the Pope will ratify the appointment.

Father O'Boylan was not surprised at the news contained in the above dispatch, which was conveyed to him by the Advocate, as he had had letters indicating that Father Hartley would be the successor to Bishop Moeller.

The local prelate enjoys the warm personal friendship of the probable new bishop, as they were for a time classmates. Father O'Boylan said that Rev. Father Hartley is a man of sterling character and attainments of a high order, possessing great executive ability which has shown itself in the building of one of the finest churches in the diocese, and one of the most complete parochial schools in the United States, the latter being almost completed at Steubenville. Father O'Boylan further said that he had no doubt but that the Pope would confirm the appointment.

Steubenville, O., Dec. 10—Rev. Father James Hartley has received no information of his appointment as bishop of Columbus. He is a very popular priest here. Father Hartley was born in Columbus, Ohio, and was educated at St. Aloysius Seminary, Columbus, and Magard seminary and was ordained a priest in 1882. He was for three years assistant priest at St. Peter's church, Steubenville and has been rector of the Holy Name church at Steubenville ever since.

MASK

Of Electric Mule is Put Aside—Real Purpose Known.

Columbus, O., Dec. 10—The electric mule mask has been put aside and the Miami and Erie canal transportation company has decided no longer to conceal its real purpose, that of securing the M. & E. canal bank for a steam railroad. Those interested in the project now frankly tell inquirers that the "electric mule" can never be a success unless millions should be spent by the state in enlarging the canals. They as frankly tell that the coming Legislature will be asked to grant the M. & E. transportation company the right to operate a steam railroad from Cincinnati to Dayton over the banks of the "electric mule," and eventually to Toledo, Ohio.

BLACK BOY

Who Has Learned to Speak Five Languages Without a Teacher.

Washington, Dec. 10—Washington has a negro boy who is a linguistic wonder. He attends the door at the Apostolic Legation here. He has had no education practically, yet he speaks French and Italian fluently, and has a broad knowledge of Latin and Greek. He is only 22 years old and has picked up all that he knows about the languages without the aid of a teacher. The boy was born in Maryland of American parents and has never been 10 miles away from Washington.

He has worked for eight years at the Apostolic Legation in this city, and acquired his knowledge of French, Italian, Greek and Latin through study.

CHICAGO

Looks Like a Winner in Her Effort to Secure the Republican National Convention.

Washington, Dec. 10—Chicago has offered to give the St. Louis Olympic games scheduled for next summer if St. Louis will withdraw from the contest for the national Republican convention. St. Louis will probably accept the offer, in which case the convention will go to Chicago, there being no other formidable contestants in the field. The meetings of the Republican national committee, which will decide the place and date for the convention, will be held at the Arlington hotel tomorrow and Saturday.

Accident a Mystery

Washington, Dec. 10—Dr. S. P. Langley, the secretary of the Smithsonian institution, whose aerodrome failed to fly this week, says: "Some projection caught in the car as the aerodrome was being launched and caused the machine to break. The rear aeroplanes or wings were rendered useless and threw the machine over. Just what caused this accident we do not know now."
